HUNDRED LIVES FEARED LOST.

REPORTED LOSS OF KWANGLI.

WRECKED IN A STORM.

(Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, Aug. 26.
Another China Coast tragedy, in which a hundred lives are feared lost, is reported to have occurred between Shanghai and Tsingtao yesterday morning, though up to the present, it has been impossible to obtain confirmatory news of the disaster.

The vessel concerned is the s.s. Kwangli, formerly the Kori-go, and before that the Knigsberg, which left Shanghai for Tsingtao on Monday, and according to the unconfirmed reports, ran aground in a heavy storm, and sank yesterday morning.

It is understood that the Kwangli, which is a small coaster of about a thousand tons gross, carried eighty-five passengers, and a crew of over forty. It is stated that only fifteen have been saved.

The Chen Chi Steamship Company, the operators of the vessel, have received no direct report of the disaster, but up to the present she has not put in an appearance at Tsingtao and it is feared that apprehensions are only too justified.

THE KWONGSANG SURVIVORS.

TERRIBLY EXHAUSTED
WHEN RESCUED.

REMEMBER LITTLE.

It appears from a letter received this morning by the local office of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., from Fouchow, that the three Chinese survivors of the s.s. Kwongsang have very imperfect recollections of exactly what happened to the ship when she was caught and sunk in a typhoon near Chupai a fortnight ago.

The message stated that the three men, a cook, sailor and fireman, were rescued and found to be in a terribly exhausted condition and were starving.

When questioned at Fouchow, they said they were washed overboard, and could recollect but very little of the disaster.

The survivors left for Shanghai on board the s.s. Wanhsiang on Sunday, and the consul has gone down to interview them.

COMING FLIGHT.

ROME TO SAN FRANCISCO BY SEAPLANE.

London, Aug. 25.
Plans for a seaplane flight from Rome to San Francisco were revealed today by Captain Enrico Becagno, an Italian army flier. The flight will be made early next year without seeking nonstop or speed records. Captain Becagno is now proceeding to select fuel depots and study flying conditions in the Alaskan Islands.

THE HEAT-WAVE.

COOLER WEATHER
PROMISED.

To-day is the fourth day of the heat-wave from which the Colony has been suffering, but there now seems a prospect of a change for the better.

The Royal Observatory forecast states that the weather will be fine at first, with rain later, and adds the comforting words "becoming cooler."

TEN MINISTERS IN NEW CABINET.

EARL READING AT THE FOREIGN OFFICE: SIR SAMUEL
HOARE, INDIA.

FULL LIST DISCLOSED.

CABINET RANK is achieved by only ten members of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's new Ministry, yesterday's forecast of the personnel being accurate with the one exception that Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister is included instead of Lord Hailsham. The names were submitted to and approved by His Majesty the King to-day as follows:

NEW CABINET.	OLD CABINET.
Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury.
Mr. Ramsay MacDonald.	Mr. MacDonald.
Lord President of the Council.
Mr. Stanley Baldwin.	Lord Parmoor.
Chancellor of the Exchequer.
Mr. Philip Snowden.	Mr. P. Snowden.
Secretary of State for the Home Affairs.	Mr. J. R. Clynes.
Sir Herbert Samuel.	Mr. A. Henderson.
Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.
Lord Reading.	Mr. W. Benn.
Secretary of State for India.
Sir Samuel Hoare.	Mr. J. H. Thomas.
Secretary for the Dominions and Colonies.	Lord Passfield.
Mr. J. H. Thomas.
Minister of Health.	Mr. A. Greenwood.
Mr. Neville Chamberlain.	Mr. W. Graham.
President of the Board of Trade.
Sir P. Cunliffe-Lister.	Lord Sankey.
Lord Chancellor.
Lord Sankey.

In reality the Cabinet will be a specialised Council of State, and the list has met with general approval. Among other appointments, outside the Cabinet, Sir Austin Chamberlain becomes First Lord of the Admiralty, Sir Donald Maclean becomes President of the Board of Education, Lord Amulree remains Secretary of State for Air, and Sir Henry Bettleton becomes Minister for Labour, in the place of Miss Margaret Bondfield.

In a remarkable speech on the political situation which was broadcast throughout the country last night, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald spoke rather sorrowfully of the breach in the ranks of the Labour Party. He was certain that in the interests of the working classes, he ought to have his credentials from his Party, but in their absence, he had obtained them from an even higher authority—those of national duty as he conceived it. He has obeyed it irrespective of the consequences.

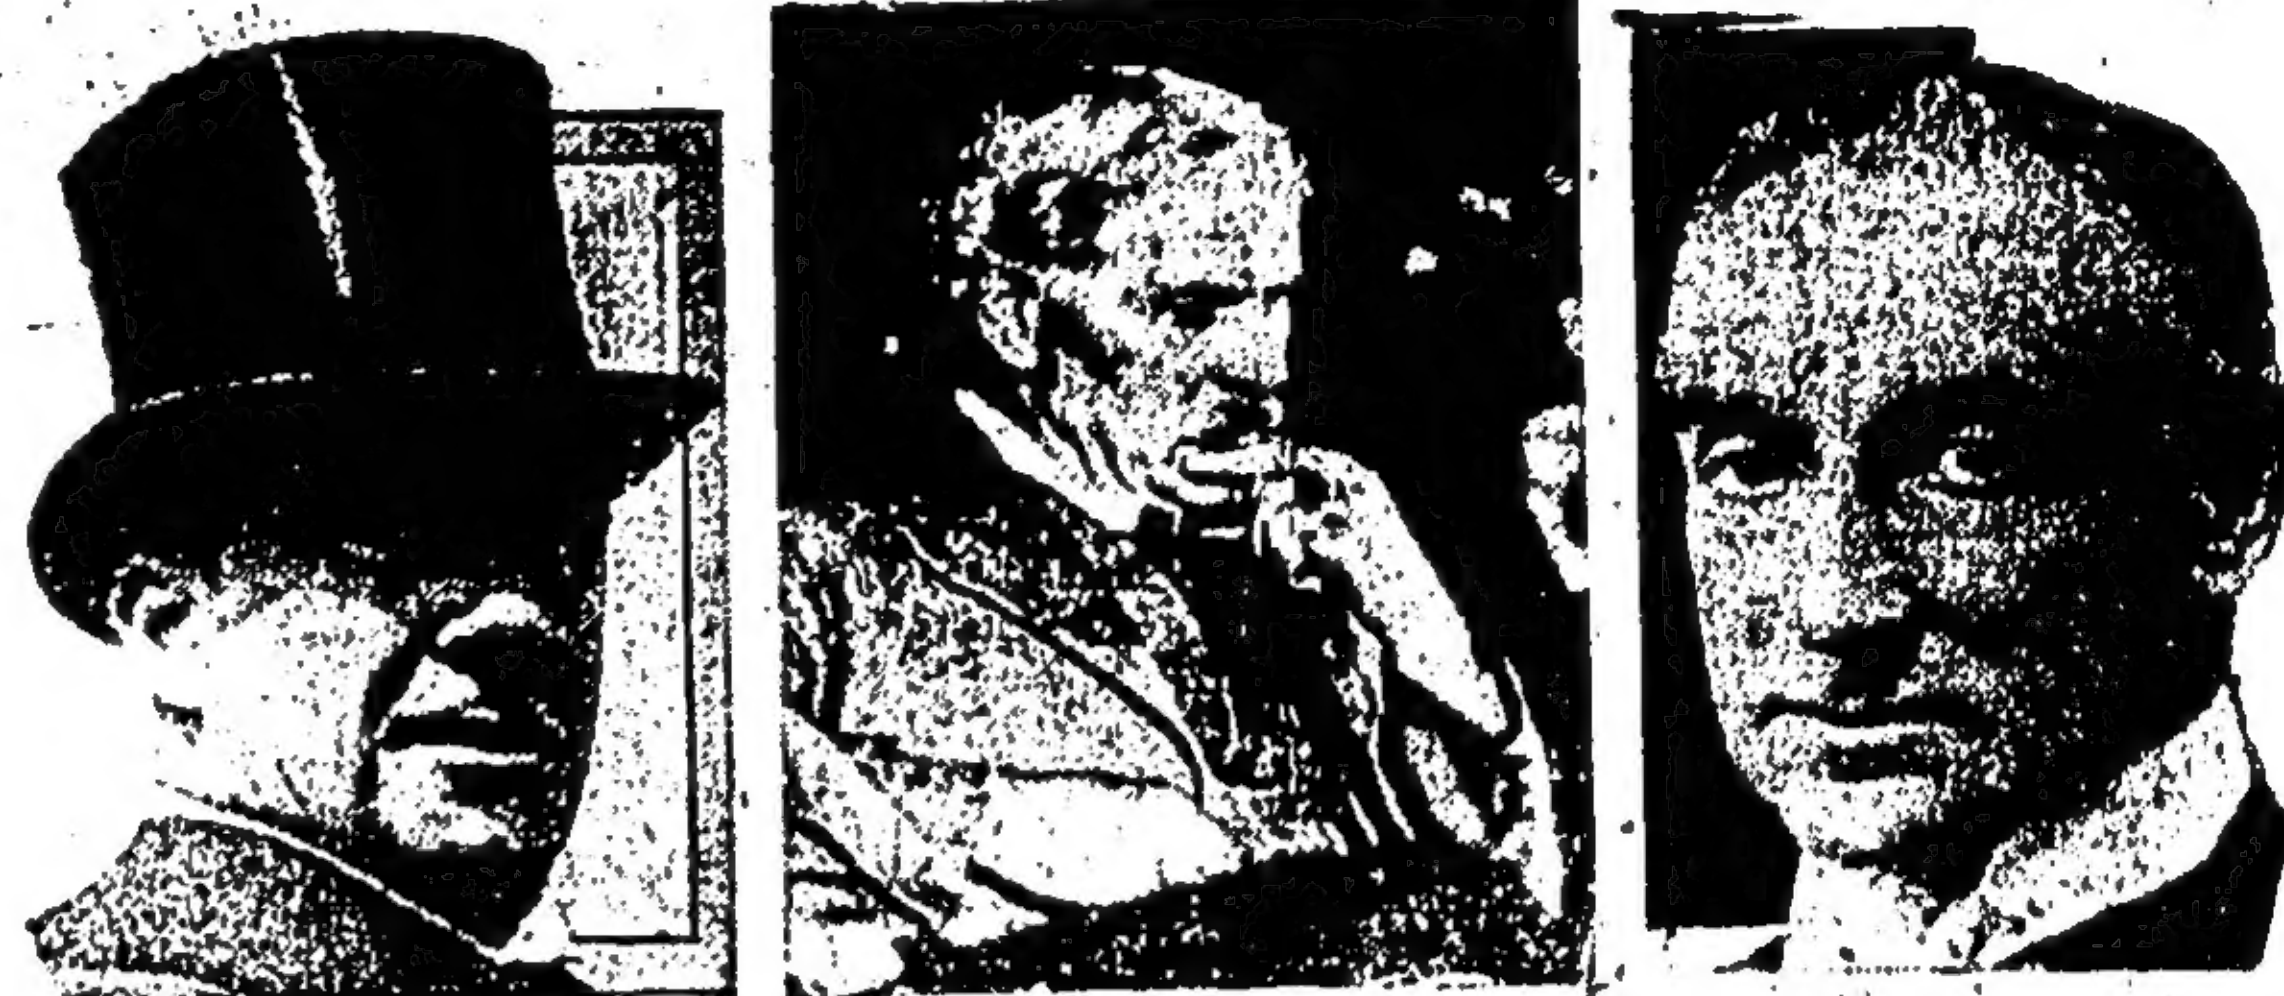

PREMIER'S APPEAL TO NATION.

It is regarded as significant that no provision has been made in the Government for appointments to the Ministries of Transport, Pensions or the Department of Overseas Trade.

It is believed that the absence means that they are to be absorbed into other departments, as part of the new Government's economy programme.

Following are members of the Government, appointed in addition to the Cabinet:

President of the Board of Education, Sir Donald Macdonald (Liberal); Minister of Labour, Sir Henry Bettleton (Conservative); First Commissioner of Works, The Marquis of Londonderry (Conservative); Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, Marquess Lothian (Liberal); Secretary of State, for Air, Lord Amulree (Labour); First Lord of the Admiralty, Sir Austin Chamberlain (Conservative).

Mr. Baldwin. Mr. Ramsay MacDonald. Lord Reading.

Left to right:—Mr. Philip Snowden, Mr. J. H. Thomas, Sir P. Cunliffe-Lister, Lord Sankey, Sir Samuel Hoare, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, and Sir Herbert Samuel.

THE TEN MINISTERS OF THE NEW CABINET.

Wave of Enthusiasm for the New Government.

Except in Labour Circles: Bitter Attacks on Premier.

London, Aug. 26.
A wave of optimism has spread through Great Britain as a result of the formation of the new Cabinet, the general feeling being that something is at last being done to face the economic crisis.

All the newspapers, with the exception of the Labour organs, heartily approve of the personnel of the Cabinet, and pay a tribute to Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's courage.

The announcement that there will be a cut in the unemployment benefit, has roused Labour organisations throughout the country for a bitter fight, and MacDonald supporters in the Party are likely to be repudiated and denied re-election.

"First Labour Battle." The first battle will be at a joint meeting to-day of the General Council of the T. U. C. and the Consultative Committee of the Labour Party, at which, though it may be assumed that Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's supporters will make some effort to defend their chief, it is a foregone conclusion that a general resolution will be passed condemning the new Government.

It is not likely that Mr. Ramsay MacDonald will attend the meeting, and it is expected that he will resign the leadership of the Party.

Expelled From Hampstead. The campaign against the Premier has already been started by a resolution at a meeting of the Hampstead Labour Party last night, expelling him from membership "in view of his disloyalty to the Party and open flouting of Party discipline."

The fact that the supporters of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald in the Party are fewer than had been supposed is shown by his inability to find more than eight Ministers to the Conservative right, and it now appears that the majority of the Premier's Labour Cabinet refused to serve under him in the new administration at the risk of their political careers.

as it obviously means that he is intended to remain in the same post in the Government which the Conservatives are confident of being able to form after the elections, which are expected to take place early next year.

Sir Samuel Hoare will, it is believed, have the task of guiding India through the difficult years ahead.

Typical of the Press comment is the leader of the Daily Telegraph which says that the Cabinet is a guarantee to the world of resolute action.

"It is strong as an expression of agreement and unity of purpose among the chief statesmen of all three parties."

The Conservative Morning Post says that "England" is coming through one of the great crises in our national life by that flexible genius for adaptation which has saved us so many times before.

The alternative policy suggested by the Labour organ is the mobilisation of British capital invested abroad as a fund with which to defend the pound sterling.

World opinion on the whole has given a warm welcome to the new Government. The French Press promises that France will give her assistance ungrudgingly for a solution of Britain's problems, adding that the depreciation of sterling would be a disaster for French economy seeing that Britain ranks first among France's foreign customers.

America Optimistic. The tone of the American Press generally is friendly and optimistic about the future.

Landslide Surprise.

General surprise is felt at the landslide of Labour M. P.'s towards Mr. Henderson and against Mr. MacDonald.

The number who will support the new Government will be in doubt till the Party meeting on the 28th instant, but it is expected to be only between twenty and fifty.

An announcement of the Government's financial proposals is expected to be made before the end of the week.—Reuter.

BIG SEIZURE OF MUNITIONS.

INTENDED FOR THE CANTON GOVT.

Shanghai, Aug. 26.
Three aeroplanes, 600 machine-guns and several hundred cases of rifles ordered by the Canton Government from Germany arrived here on board a German steamer on Monday evening and were immediately seized by the Nanking authorities.

This seizure marks the second confiscation of arms which had been ordered by the Southern Government.

It will be recalled that 600 cases of arms and ammunition also consigned to the Canton Government, were seized by the Nanking Government on the s.s. Honn on Saturday.

The goods are in the meantime being stored at the Maritime Customs godowns.

The cargoes were sent on to Shanghai instead of Canton following strong protests lodged by the Foreign Ministry with the German Minister in China.—Reutels.

Shanghai Typhoon Tragedy.

U.S. NAVAL BOAT MISSING.

Feared Loss of Many Lives.

FLOODS IN CITY.

(Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, Aug. 26.
There is grave reason to fear that a number of American naval ratings lost their lives last night when the typhoon has been threatening Shanghai passed close to the Settlement causing treacherous seas in the Harbour.

A motor-launch belonging to the U.S.S. Houston, a big American cruiser stationed in Shanghai for the present, left the Customs Jetty at about quarter to eight last night, since when it has not been seen.

A number of naval ratings were aboard, making their way back to the Houston from shore leave. The fact that the launch cannot be found is regarded as grim prima facie evidence that it was overturned and sunk.

Floods in City.

The typhoon caused stormy weather throughout the night, and serious flooding was caused in many parts of the city, some places being three feet under water.

It is also reported that considerable damage has been done to property, though few details are at present available.

The damage to goods in godowns as a result of the floods is believed to be heavy. Traffic was suspended for some hours.

SCHNEIDER TROPHY PROSPECTS.

FRANCE STILL HOPES TO COMPETE.

London, Aug. 25.
High winds and a rough sea again prevented the British Schneider Trophy team from making a practice flight at Calshot to-day.

According to a Paris message, it is still hoped that France will be able to take part in the race on September 12th.

The Italian decision has been delayed by the interruption of the tests on Lake Garda by bad weather.—British Wireless.

PLAYGROUNDS PROJECT.
ROTARY CLUB BACKING SCHEME.
COMMUNITY SERVICE.

The Rotary Club of Hongkong intends to put into effective practice its motto, "Service before Self," and is to do so by supporting a scheme for the provision of two new playgrounds in Victoria.

In the interest of community service, the Club yesterday agreed to proposals to make application for the use of Blake Gardens and a part of the Praya East Reclamation for this purpose, and to make itself responsible for the equipment of such playgrounds. The expense in this connexion is to be borne by the individual members of the Club, upon whom will be imposed a levy.

In a report on the subject the Community Service Committee stated that in the Central district there are 8,000 school boys, and in the Eastern district 5,000, without playing facilities, although in both districts there are small playgrounds available. What is needed is that some organisation should take up the management of them. In addition to school boys there are thousands of less fortunate children who also need facilities for play.

Provision has been made in this year's Budget of $5,000 for fencing and surfacing playgrounds. The Government of Hongkong was privately approached by the President who was promised that the Rotary Club could have the use of land free of rent for one year, in the first instance, and that the Government would (within the Budget provision) carry out such work in levelling and enclosing as would make the ground suitable for games.

Blake Gardens, and a larger reserved area in Wanchai are available: the Government should be asked to fence the former and half the latter, as a beginning.

A salaried supervising play promoter, with voluntary assistants, would be required.

Rotarian McPherson promised the co-operation of the Y.M.C.A. in supervising the scheme, if started.

It was estimated that the initial cost of equipping the two grounds with games apparatus would be about $500, and that the cost for salary of play director and wages of groundsmen would be about $900 per annum.

Early Difficulties.

The President (Sir William Hornell) mentioned that the scheme originated in a suggestion by Rotarian McPherson; it went forward to the Community Service Committee and subsequently came before the Directors and Chairman of Committees, who unanimously recommended it to the Club for adoption. The understanding was that the Government would put the playgrounds into such order that they could be used and that the cost of equipping and running them should be borne equally by every member of the Club.

Rotarian McPherson, in moving the adoption of the scheme, recalled that about thirteen years ago, when the Chinese Y.M.C.A. removed from its rented quarters to its new building in Tai Ping Shan, it looked for a place in which to introduce games. The only piece of land available measured 60 feet by 90 feet, not large enough even for tennis, and consequently two new games were introduced into the Colony, namely volleyball and basketball, which were very useful where space was limited. Those in charge of the local schools soon saw the advantages of these games and school children were soon playing them. In the recent Volley-ball League, twenty-one teams entered.

Arena Set Aside.

Two years ago the Government appointed a Playing Fields Committee, and invited the public to send in suggestions. He wrote

ENGLISH M.P.'S AT A TEE PARTY.

Battles over political issues became a fight for points when Members of Parliament met in their annual golf tournament. Here is Lady Astor with Lord Castletown, her opponent in the semifinals, during play at the Walton Heath.

two letters asking the Committee to consider the use of small areas in different parts of the Colony for games, as a consequence of which he was invited to give evidence, which appeared in the report of the Committee.

The Committee definitely recommended that these small areas should be set apart for organised games. Acting on this recommendation the Government set aside certain areas, but the provision of playing facilities on them was somewhat beyond the means of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. and he hoped the Rotary Club, which was looking for some form of community service, would be willing to take up the matter.

Playing in Streets.

Mr. McPherson pointed out that thousands of children in Hongkong had only the streets to play in; he had often seen them playing volley-ball, the ends of the net being held by two children and stretched across the street. They were not fixed because it would be necessary to beat a strategic retreat "if the enemy appeared." (Laughter from Rotarian E. D. C. Wolfe.) He was sure the Inspector General of Police would be the last to wish to interfere with children at play, but there was always the ever-present danger of motor traffic.

Rotarian E. G. Powell seconded the proposal and said that by getting children to play together they would learn to work together and to carry out the Rotary motto of Service before Self.

Rotarian B. Wylie said he hoped this scheme would go through. The Rotary Club formed an excellent meeting place for distinguished visitors, but that was not enough; it ought to do something definite in the form of social service. It was not enough to come to the weekly luncheon "all good fellows amongst good fellows" and hear somebody speak. He hoped the Club would enthusiastically adopt the proposal.

Congested Island.

Rotarian F. C. Mow Fung said he wholeheartedly supported the scheme but regretted that Kowloon was not included. There were numbers of schools there also without playgrounds.

Rotarian W. E. L. Shenton said he understood the present proposal was just the beginning and if successful would no doubt be extended to Kowloon.

Rotarian E. D. C. Wolfe thought a start should be made on not too large a scale. If any comparison were to be drawn as to the necessities of the two sides of the harbour—which he thought scarcely desirable—the congestion of Victoria was undoubtedly the greater.

Rotarian M. F. Key (one of the Hon. Secretaries) in reply to a question, explained that the cost of the scheme in the first year would be about $20 per member, and thereafter, unless extended, $10 per member.

The President, in summing up the debate, commented on the severe congestion of the Western end of the town and said that playing grounds there would be a very great improvement. The Budget contained provision to the extent of $5,000 for preparing playgrounds and the Government was prepared to spend this sum if a workable scheme were put forward. He was sure the Club could rely on the Chinese Y.M.C.A. and Rotarian McPherson to find the right man to take charge of the playgrounds and to supervise his work. He hoped members of the Club would visit the playing grounds from time to time.

The Motion Passed.

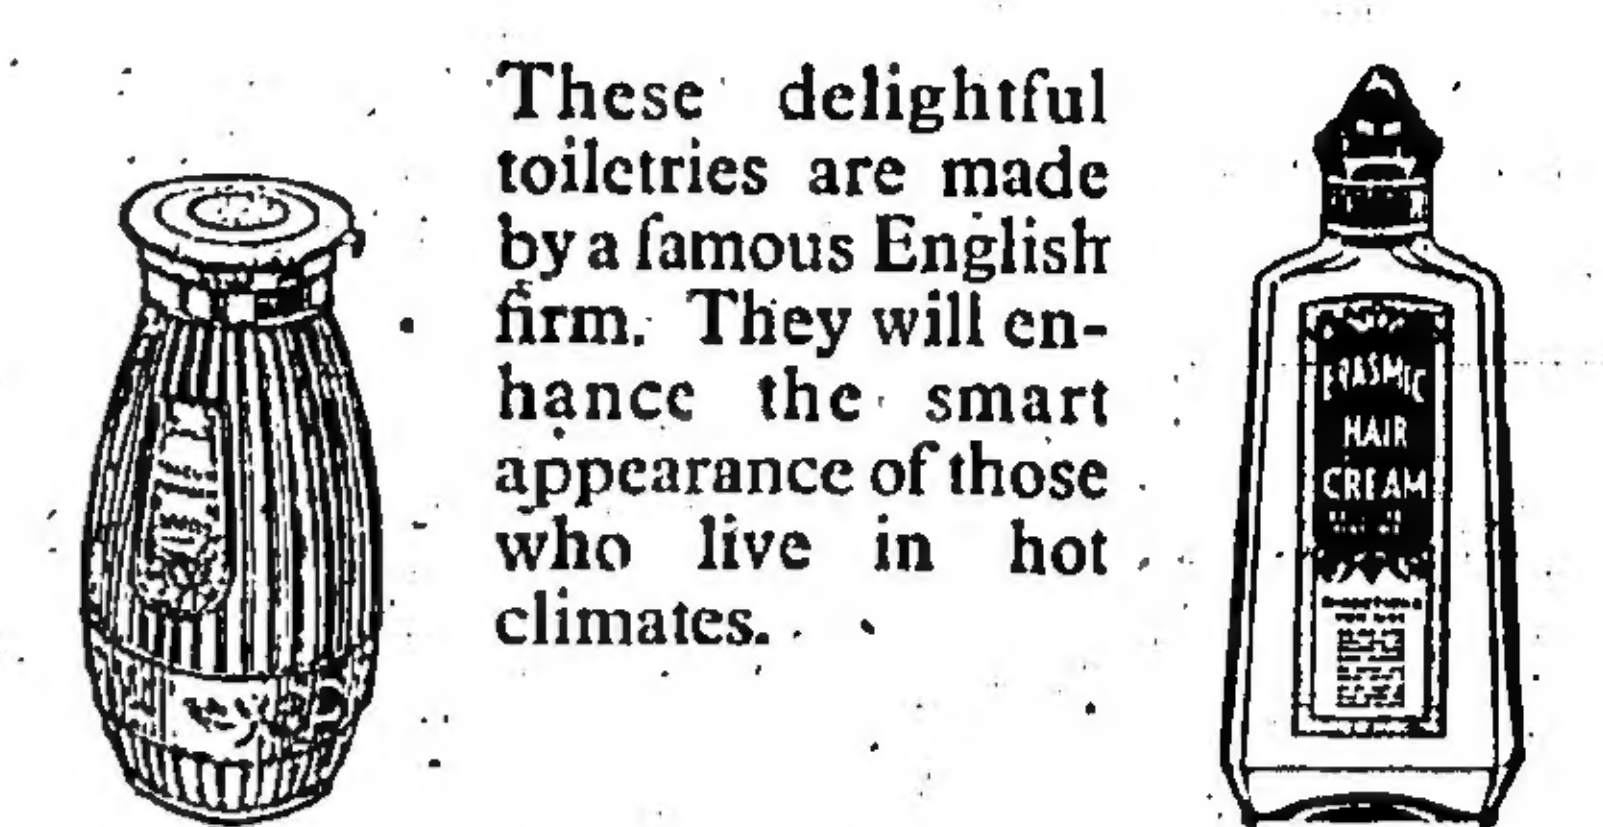

The motion was then put to the meeting that application be made to the Government for the use of Blake Gardens and an area opposite the Sailors' and Soldiers' Home on the Praya East Reclamation; that the Government be asked to enclose and level these grounds; and that the Rotary Club equip them with games apparatus and pay the salary of a play director; by a levy upon each member of the Club; and that the Chinese Y.M.C.A. be invited to secure a director and supervise his work. The motion was carried unanimously, and the meeting then adjourned.

Heart of Liane

by MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY.

Liane Harrett, is and beautiful, lives in a crowded New York apartment with her mother, Cass Harrett, a rather faded actress, one hot night Liane rose to dinner with Molly Cronin, neighbor, and two of Molly's men friends. The two men quarrel and one is shot. Liane, frantic, sends for her mother who arrives and convinces Shane McDermid, the young policeman in charge, that the girl is innocent of wrongdoing. That night at the theatre, where Cass is playing Liane encounters a handsome stranger who speaks her name.

A few days later Cass and Liane go to Willow Stream, N. Y., where Cass has an engagement in a small summer theatre sponsored by the wealthy Mrs. Cleopatra Liane is to work in the box office, sharing duties with Muriel Ladd, pretty society girl, Elsie Miller, famous, notorious, Liane is to Olive Cleopatra's son of the theatre patron, Shane McDermid comes to tell Liane the man wounded in the gun fire, will recover.

At Muriel Ladd's home Liane again meets the handsome stranger who speaks to her in the theatre. He is Van Robard. When Liane mentions his name Cass becomes excited and makes the girl promise to have nothing more to do with him. Liane agrees with reluctance.

Mrs. Cleopatra asks Cass to let Liane stay with her during the winter. Chuck Desmond, newspaper man who admires Muriel, calls at the theatre and the two drive away together. Mrs. Ladd believes the couple have eloped and asks Robard to find them. He enters Liane's home, he makes love to Liane, but later when Elsie tells her Robard has been Mrs. Ladd's lover the girl is crushed.

CHAPTER VII

Muriel Ladd sat up in bed at the St. Wilbraham. She pulled the silken coverlet over one bare shoulder, yawned and reached for the telephone.

"Willow Stream 012," she said sleepily. "Then after a long pause, 'Grimes?' This is Miss Muriel. Father home? Oh, mother? Yes, put me on her wire."

She made a naughty face at her charming reflection in the mirror.

"Mother? When did you get back? Oh, for Pete's sake stop howling or I can't tell you a thing. At the St. Wilbraham, of course. Where do you suppose I stay when I come to town? Well, you can ring back the desk if you like when I finish and ask the clerk when I checked in." Long pause. "Yes, I admit I did go dancing with him. What's all the shouting for? We went to the Club Royal and I got in at three. Don't be so steamed up. You thought I'd eloped? Darling, how I wish you were right. The young man's too crazy. I put the car in a garage. Well, I didn't want to drive back that late. Oh, you give me a double distilled pain!"

On this final note Muriel slammed up the receiver. In a minute the bell shrilled again, and she answered the summons with a bored air.

"What? Of course I've got day-time clothes. I stopped and took a bag with me. Too bad you haven't got something real to worry about. Goodbye!"

She dropped the coverlet and ran for the bathroom where, amidst gold-plated spots and mammoth bath towels monogrammed H. St. W., she proceeded to turn on the hot water until the mirror and window flamed over with steam.

Muriel warbled "I love you so much, it's a wonder you—don't feel it," as she laid out sheer, citron coloured underthings and sipping half a bottle of rose geranium salts into the boiling tub. Five minutes later she emerged in her citron-coloured shift, rosy, stockinged. Thus casually attired, she sought the phone again. This time she called a bookman number.

"Editorial department? Mr. Desmond in yet? Well, would you mind giving me his home number? It's personal. Yes, I know it's against the rules," and here her voice became velvet textured, "but this is frightfully important. Oh, thanks awfully. So sweet of you." She smiled at the unseen speaker at the other end of the wire.

Muriel asked the Wilbraham operator to call Spring 00049 for her and got into her black and white sports suit as she waited. "Darling," she cooed into the mouthpiece. "Don't be cross because I waked you. I just wanted to say good morning. Am I a lamb? Course I is. Did you mean all you said last night? Don't forget! Just had a slight bout with Mother who barged home about 11 and tore up the scenery when Grimes told her I was sitting with you. She's purple but she'll get over it. She thought to find me plastered all over the front pages, and is she disappointed! Well, never mind. Yes, Thursday. Lamb!" She made a sibilant sound and hung up the receiver with an air of extreme reluctance.

"I love you so much, it's a wonder you don't feel it!" The girl's voice rose to a crescendo now. As she went into the breakfast room of the St. Wilbraham the captain, four waiters and two bus boys fell over themselves to serve her. The assistant manager hoped she found her orange juice to her liking. She radiated youthful charm and the consciousness of her importance.

At the garage, in East 53rd street two grimy young men sprang to attention. One said, "Come on back—come on back!" in a dull monotone as Muriel capably manœuvred the roughest out. The youth had the well meaning but mistaken impression that his aid was needed. Another took a dirty rag and added a superfluous bit of polish to the already gleaming nickel work. Both were rewarded by dazzling smiles. Both wore already a little dizzy with the mingled scents of rose geranium, jasmine and mimosa, the last being the scent of Muriel's face powder. She was a walking garden that morning. Her slim rounded legs flexed as she put her small shoe on the starter, conscious of her beauty, her skill as a driver, her invincibility as a woman.

"Thanks so much," she cried, skidding out of the driveway, narrowly missing two Italian children and a man with a hurdy-gurdy. Her heart did not skip a beat. The world was hers that morning. She sailed down Third avenue, joined the stream of mid-day traffic at Queensboro Bridge. This bored her, the stopping and starting, but she varied the monotony by giving taxi drivers heart failure every few seconds by attempting to pass them on the right. She was rewarded by curses and screams. It all delighted Muriel. The city smell of the river, the hot sun beating down, the rank odor of motor exhaust, the purring and clanking and rattling of a hundred engines the scream of boat sirens, the hoarse bray of horns.

It was well past the luncheon hour when she drove into Willow Stream. On Main street she caught sight of two familiar figures and drew up at the curb, startled, turned a white, scared face at her. "Why, it's you!" she faltered. Elsie waved coldly and went on. "Got to pick up some things at the five and dime," she said to Liane. "See you later."

"Why, Muriel, we thought—well, we didn't know what to think!" Liane gasped.

The other girl laughed scornfully. "Mother spilled it all," she said. "Chasing all over the country looking for me in roadhouses. If that isn't the outside limit! I'd gone into town to dance. It's a wonder they didn't send out the marines."

"She was worried," Liane said, gravely. Her plain white dress, fresh and cool looking in the heat, her soft tumbling hair curling about her flushed face, gave the girl a look at once bewitching and subtly mature.

"You're—why, I don't know—different—today," Liane, said Muriel. "So solemn! What's up? Did anything happen after I blew last night?"

"Happen?" What could? cried Liane defensively. "Your mother was half out of her head. I was worried, naturally."

"Well, you didn't need to lose any sleep over me," snapped Muriel. "I was with Chuck and I stayed at the hotel Grandmother always chooses when she's in town if it was my respectability mother was stewing about. Lord knows I'd have stayed at Chuck's place if he'd let me. He wouldn't, more's the pity." She giggled.

"Muriel, you ought not to say such things," said Liane, shocked. "Oh, don't be a goof," Muriel said. "I've got several scenes coming when I get home. Mother doesn't often get such a chance to blow up and will she enjoy it? I'm looking forward to it. Don't expect me at the theatre to-night for certain. I'll probably come on crutches if I do get there. When Mother gets through with me! She throw up her hands, put the car into gear and shot off, laughing at Liane's worried face."

The young girl walked slowly down the street in pursuit of Elsie. Her heart felt heavy and sick. She could hardly bear to think of last night. Everything seemed soiled and terrible to-day.

That Muriel could joke about the things she did seemed one more loathsome touch. These people all took love so casually, so lightly. It meant nothing to them. It was something to be laughed at, sneered at.

Liane told herself she was a fool to believe a man's words just because his eyes were dark and deep-set, because his voice had a pleasant ring. And yet his words had seemed sincere. "A rose you had thrown away—a glove you once had worn." That was beautiful. It was poetic but on his lips it probably didn't mean anything.

She was an idiot even to think of him for a moment. A silly, romantic little fool. No wonder Elsie laughed at her, affectionately called her "dumb."

It was better for her not to think of him any more, never to see him again. Besides, her mother wished it to be so. Like a flashback in a cinema, her mother's white startled face appeared to her. How terrified she had looked when first Van Robard's name had been mentioned. "You must not have anything to do with him," she had said.

Liane walked in a daze, stopping heedlessly among the vacation throng, the pretty girls in scarves and white linen, the chattering family groups coming from the stores, milling around the 10-cent store. Yesterday she had been a part of all this. She had liked the smell and sound of this bright coloured summer time village. Now everything seemed hateful to her. A blight had been cast on her happiness. It seemed to Liane that the world was an "xy, evil place."

Over and over again as she dawdled homeward the mystery of her mother's fierce objection to Van Robard to torment her. Why did Cass hate him? What was there about this tall, faintly sinister looking man to stir up such a passion of feeling?

Liane felt she could not rest until she had learned the answer to the puzzle.

Common Afflictions of Childhood.

Croup and Convulsions.

There are few ailments more distressing to see than these, and when attacks occur, parents often do not know what to do until the doctor comes. Croup is caused by the formation of a false membrane in the throat and unless this can be got rid of there is danger, in severe cases, of suffocation. As a first aid measure, the child should be made to vomit, by the administration of ipecacuanha wine or other emetic. Then Baby's Own Tablets should be given to allay the feverishness, settle the stomach, cleanse the bowels, and act as a gentle restorative.

Similar treatment will also relieve convulsions. As a general rule convulsions are due to indigestion, especially to the accumulation of gas in the bowels, and are likely to occur during teething.

Wise parents however avoid these troubles by the use of Baby's Own Tablets in occasional preventive doses. This splendid, pleasant-tasting and absolutely harmless children's medicine keeps the internal organs active and healthy, aids the digestion, keeps the bowels moving and clean, thereby preventing the internal congestion and derangement which are the cause of these childhood troubles. No home where there are babies and young children should be without Baby's Own Tablets.

WOMEN'S WORLD
FOR OUR LADY READERS.

Fashions Seen in Newport's Chic Circles.

At exclusive Newport ...
Mrs. J. Theus Munds (left)
wore a brown and white printed frock ... Mimi Kountze (above) was charming in a hand-tailored white frock suit
... and Rose Davis (right)
sponsored tiered skirts and
brown and white polka dots.

[By Betsy Schuyler.]

Newport—A yellow streak is showing up in Newport clothes these days and it is a positive relief from too much too pure white.

At the Casino Theatre Tuesday night—that is the night the programme changes and all the boxes and half the orchestra is filled with elegantes who are regular attendants—day-time yellow burst forth in all its popular tones, lime, gold, mustard, lemon.

Mrs. Daniel Fearing wore a lovely graceful print of different yellows, flowered against white chiffon. The Countess Szechenyi wore an opaline yellow chiffon with a beautiful ruyhing finish here, there and everywhere of the chiffon. The dowager Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt wore a rich printed gown of great dignity, yellow and soft pink and green flowers against black.

Prints are running riot for both daytime and evening now. Sheer prints take rich colours, crepes and other silk prints are likely to have colour against a background of white, for coolness' sake. Mrs. J. Theus Munds wears a brown and white printed frock daytimes at Bailey's Beach that has its big, interlocked line circles of brown against white. It has its shoulders extending to form short sleeves cut in one.

Tiered skirts are in again, but they reverse order, having the width in the form of a flaying pleatum and then a sleek, slender silhouette beneath. This silhouette was sponsored by Rose Davis in a little daytime frock of brown and white polka dotted crepe, and the other evening at a dinner by Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James, her choice being a dark red lace gown, with the skirt in three tiers.

There are numberless parties these days, making it a rush business to change for garden parties, exhibition horse shows, weddings, dances, golf, church bazaars, tennis tournaments, yacht races, and dinner parties, not to mention backgammon and other interesting, newly popular games.

Muriel Vanderbilt Church's wedding set for September 5th at her mother's home, Fairmont, at Manhasset, L.I., is the big event of the season. She will have no attendants. The Count de Turin's golf journey, scheduled for August 28, will be out of the way just in time for society to trek to the wedding.

At a lunch given for the bride, Mimi Kountze wore a sweet little hand-tailored white frock suit, with silver beads, silver buckle and clip in her white hat.

Three-quarters coats are replacing the very short evening wrap to some extent. Mrs. Charles Childs wore a three-quarters fitted gold lame coat the other night at the theatre that was the richest looking garment there. Gladys Szechenyi wears a pink and gold metallic brocade evening wrap that is handsome.

Sheer black lace is in good standing these hot nights. Mrs. Alexander Hamilton Rice wears ever such a gown a ravishing bright green velvet wrap with Russian sable collar and deep puff cuffs.

The much-touted taffeta for summer hasn't materialized, for satin, chiffons and lace or novelty cotton materials seem much more popular. But I did notice one lovely taffeta dress that made me wonder why more women didn't take to the momentary vogue. Mrs. Henry Clews wore a pastel blue taffeta topped by a lovely little jacket of sheer black lace and thereby made a real picture of unusual charm.

A DRAMATIC CHANGE.

There is one aspect of the creation of a National Government in Britain which compels attention,
namely, the startling suddenness of
the change in the political situation.
A week ago, there seemed no reason whatever for thinking that the Labour Government would not remain in office for a very considerable period. To-day, we not only have no Labour Administration, but such a complete swing round that when the House of Commons re-assembles next month, the Opposition will consist of Labourites led by Mr. Henderson and including eight other of his former colleagues. The suggestion that Mr. Ramsay Macdonald will find himself opposed by some two hundred back-benchers
may not be justified by subsequent happenings, but that the Labour Party has become split in twain as a consequence of the formation of the new Government is plain for all to see. It is regrettable, and somewhat inexplicable, that Mr. Henderson and Mr. Graham, two of the five members of the Cabinet Economy Committee, should have parted company with the Prime Minister. Both have long been regarded as moderates amongst the Labourites.
Presumably, however, the Economy Committee's proposals have been so trimmed to meet the views of the Conservatives and Liberals that these two Labour stalwarts felt that they could not support the revised scheme. Be that as it may, the dropping out of Mr. Henderson in particular will be widely deplored,

for in the cause of disarmament
and in foreign policy generally he has rendered fine service to his country.

Few people can have had any impression that Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Henderson have not hit it off too well of late, but; obviously well-informed on the matter, Mr.
J. L. Garvin only recently spoke of rumour being busy about the personal relations between these two statesmen, some newspapers asserting that the tension between the Premier and the Foreign Secretary
was like the incompatibility of temperament between Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Asquith, which in the long run proved disastrous to both.
Whatever the facts may have been,
the two have now definitely parted
company, and we can only assume that it is Mr. Henderson's hope that he may lead that section of the Labour Party which is dissatisfied with Mr. MacDonald's policies. In this connexion, we must not forget that for some considerable time past Labour supporters in the country have been disappointed
with the record of the Government,
so much so that there seemed every prospect of Labour losing if an early General Election took place.
The breach between Mr. Macdonald and the dissident members of the old Cabinet may therefore consolidate those supporters of Labour who have yearned for more
"Socialism in our time." This,
however, remains to be seen. It is a strange situation which has been created, especially if, as is possible,
the anti-Macdonald group should decide to oppose the other faction
in the next election.

Taking the situation as a whole,
however, we imagine that there will be a very considerable bulk of opinion in the country which will applaud Mr. MacDonald and those Labourites who have remained with him for the stand which they have now taken. By putting the interests of the State above those of Party, they may be committing political suicide, but the sincerity
of their motives will appeal to the great mass of sober-thinking Britons. Mr. Winston Churchill, by no manner of means inclined to hand out
bonquets to his political opponents,
recently said one thing of Mr. Macdonald which has been borne out by the happenings of the past few days. He described the Prime Minister as "an urbane, cultured, incorruptible who would rather
lead his country to fame and power than to Socialist liquidation and decline," adding that he was a man
of high courage, with a healthy contempt for "popularity" and so-called "public opinion." This estimate of his character squares with the facts. Though Mr. MacDonald may eventually find himself in the political wilderness because of the course of action he has taken this week, he will at any rate have the consciousness that in a time of national crisis he put his country's welfare above every other consideration.

British Tennis.

The ladies, too, have illustrated
that Britain is by no means a back
number in the sphere of international tennis, though their manner of so doing has been rather queer. In the American women's singles championships, just concluded, three of the British invaders reached the semi-finals
against the cream of America's court experts, the only representative of her country to get through being the invincible Mrs. Willis-Moody. In the previous week, an important tournament provided victories in both the women's singles and the women's doubles
for British players. Just before leaving England, they defeated a German team, including Fraulein
Krahwinkel, by ten matches to nil.
How to balance this form against
the wretched displays in the Wightman Cup and the Wimbledon championships is a problem to which we can offer no solution.
The main point is that in spite of occasional lapses, the British women players have supported their menfolk splendidly in encouraging

hopes that the long-desired renaissance of British tennis has arrived.
The original teacher of outdoor sports, Britain has not been able to view with complaisance
the "foreign domination" of "English games," particularly tennis,
which the last few years have witnessed. Disliking always that over-emphasis which tends to make a game rather more (or perhaps less) than a game, British
has had to watch one country

lisation and though Britain has not altogether devoted herself to

OXFORD'S NEW RELIGIOUS MOVEMENT.

By A. J. RUSSELL.

London, Aug. 2.
DURING the past fortnight
there has been taking place in three of the colleges of Oxford University a gigantic international house party that may eventuate in a world-stirring religious revival.
Oxford may be the home of lost
political causes; it is indisputably
the home of several religious awakenings that have stirred the five continents.
Already the new religious movement centred in this remarkable house party is awakening the most suspicious of all sleepers—the intellectuals.
B.A.s, M.A.s, LL.B.s, M.B.s.
Honours men and women in great number, and many Oxford dons are to be seen at the meeting rooms in the three colleges or strolling together arm-in-arm on the rose-
bordered lawns discussing nothing more intellectual or scientific than
"Christ the Wisdom and Power of God" and the need of daily self-surrender to Him as the solution of life's riddle.

Yet the house party is not forbiddingly highbrow. The midbrow visitor notices immediately the absence of every sign of intellectual snobbery; indeed, of every human affection or mannerism likely to drive the curious and pagan inquirer hurriedly back into his protecting shell. For whatever he first thinks of the teaching, he has no alternative but to like the product of the Oxford groups forming the house party.

A healthier, livelier, gayer, more courteous and unselfish band of cultured men and women does not exist. Here at St. Hugh's, St.
Hilda's, Lady Margaret Hall are groups of young and middle-aged men and women who are taking Christianity to its logical limits and practising the faith, courage, and recklessness of the early Apostles.
These five hundred or so, drawn
from all churches and no churches,
do not stand for a point of view as
the price of a safe seat in Paradise,
but for a quality of life. To adopt a quotation from one of the finest
of them: "They have restored commonplaces to their first uncommon lustre by translating them
into action."

They accept the letter and spirit
of the New Testament as marching orders for daily activities interpreted and guided by the constant directing presence of the Holy Spirit.

And all unitedly proclaim that Christianity when put into unrestricted practice becomes not the impossible ideal of popular belief
but the only working basis for a joyous life.

A new automobile may stop, a race-horse may die, the wireless
may fade out and a watch run down.
But the Acts of the Apostles continue; they appear to continue impressively in many acts of the groups now gathered at Oxford University, who find in the New Testament the secret of perpetual motion galvanising any man, any woman, any type, any class, in any age, into unexcelled vitality and stunning power.

The man through whom the movement came into being is Dr.
Frank Buchman, who is a buoyant,
alert, broad-shouldered, vital man
of middle-age aptly described "as having that fresh shampooed

cleanness so characteristic of the hygienic American."

Dr. Buchman is just the type
that the business superman exploits
at $2,000 a year in a £10,000 a year
job. He is out for results and gets them.

Oxford's new religious movement
started because Dr. Buchman found he was not making converts like
the Early Christians made converts.
What was the matter with Christianity or with Dr. Buchman? He found out and evolved a technique
to put his discoveries into practice with such astonishing results that he seems to be capturing the cream
of the world Universities—Rugger
blues, an occasional rowing blue, a triple first, and other outstanding men and women in two hemispheres
—for vital Christianity.

The movement started at Cambridge several years ago, shot off
at a tangent to Oxford, where it developed very fast. It has spread to Edinburgh, Aberdeen, London, Leicester, Holland, South Africa (where it has become national),
North and South America, and Canada, and promises to compass
and permeate the world.

It has the blessing of both Anglican and Nonconformist Churches.
The Bishop of Leicester and Canon
R. J. Campbell and Dr. Herbert Gray (Presbyterian) are but three of many well-known clerics and ministers visiting the house party.

The first principle of the Oxford
Group is God-guidance, listening to God as well as praying to Him, recording the thoughts that enter the mind after prayer, checking them
with others in special circumstances, and acting on them as though they were the recorded will of God.

Many startling experiences of God-guidance seem to have come to Dr. Buchman, and others are in the records of the Group. Dr. Buch-
man was travelling from New York
to Chicago when the Inner Voice prompted him to alight and return to his home, which he reached just in time to save a disappointed and distressed visitor from suicide.

Other equally arresting stories
are told by members of the Group
in which sudden changing of direction for unknown reasons have resulted in startling conversions.

The readiness to own up to weaknesses is found in practice to produce a reactionary benefit to the person who obeys the Scriptural injunction to confess faults one to another. It deepens his humility,
and by showing others their state
is no exception and curable, raises their ego, prompting them towards a changed life.

The teaching is not that a man or woman should confess every sin
but that he or she should be willing to do so if God-guided to do it.
Otherwise they are likely to be ineffective in the imperative task of propagating the Gospel. Those who do not change others themselves lose the vitality of Christianity. That is the teaching.

Although it is not the practice
for all in the Groups to live on faith, nor does the teaching enjoin
it—there are many at the house party who are actually doing so.

At least thirty-five of them have been living without an assured income for several years; some for ten years. All have piquant stories to tell of their faith being tested
to the last penny and the last minute; though none has ever gone
hungry save through voluntary fasting. Nor do they ask for money or take collections. And this in an age of insurances and tumbling dividends.

Last Sunday's visiting woman
novelist challenged one of those who lived on faith with the accusation:

"You mean you live on others?"

He quietly replied:
"We all live on other people.
What counts is our own contribution to you and the world. You may work eight hours a day.
Some of us work eighteen, with no
salary."

Dr. Buchman has lived on faith for ten years or more. A working day in his life would appal the average business man. It begins at 5.30 every morning. From then until 6.30 he spends, to quote his own words, "one hour of quiet
alone with the living God" to obtain direction for the day.

At 7.30 a.m. he attends the first meeting of the Inner Group, some of whom live on faith and all act
on the principle of the Holy Spirit's guidance. Plans are received and discussed, speakers for the day are appointed, work allotted.

And so on for a full-length day
of speaking, guiding, counselling until nearly midnight, meetings to discuss the principles of Christian living, others for Bible study; more for witness, for converts to "an-

FEATS WITH THE
BAT AND BALL.ASHDOWN HITS UP
TWO 100'S.THIRTEEN WICKETS
FOR KENNEDY.

COUNTY CRICKET.

London, Aug. 25.
With the weather repenting of her unsporting behaviour of last week, county cricket staged a comeback over the week-end, though affected wickets gave some of the teams anxious and unhappy moments, and caused several batting collapses.

None the less, four of the seven engagements reached decisive results, the remainder resting on first innings decisions.

The best individual batting performance came from William Ashdown of Kent, who earned the distinction of scoring two separate hundreds against Middlesex, while in the Surrey and Yorkshire match, which gave the London team five points, both Sutcliffe and Hobbs touched their best form and passed the three figure mark.

Kennedy, the Hampshire fast bowler, played havoc with Leicestershire, taking thirteen wickets for 55 runs, the outstanding bowling achievement of the whole programme.

The results in detail, and the leading individual performances follow:

County Championship.

Hampshire beat Leicester by nine wickets at Bournemouth.
Gloucester beat Warwick by eight wickets at Gloucester.
Kent beat Middlesex by 200 runs at Lords.
Derbyshire beat Glamorgan by 184 runs at Chesterfield.
Sussex won on first innings against Worcester at Eastbourne.
Nottingham won first innings against Lancashire at Nottingham.
Surrey won on first innings against Yorkshire at the Oval.

Friendly.

Essex drew with New Zealanders, at Southend.

DEADLY KENNEDY.

Two Brilliant Bowling Performances.

Hampshire owed everything to Kennedy, their fast bowler, in the match against Leicester, and he won the game for them by means of two remarkable spells of bowling. When Leicester made their first appearance at the wicket, he dismissed them for 109, and in so doing returned an analysis of seven wickets for 40 runs.

Hampshire gained a very slight advantage, and were all out for 151, but again Kennedy rose to the occasion, and Leicestershire suffered an even worse debacle, being dismissed for the paltry total of 52. Kennedy's second spell earned for him the figures of 6 for 15, and a total for the match of 13 wickets or 55 runs. Hampshire, requiring only a dozen runs to win, lost one wicket in obtaining them.

BY EIGHT WICKETS.

Warwickshire Outplayed by Gloucester.

Gloucester displayed superior all-round form to beat Warwick by eight wickets.

Steady bowling, backed up by good field work, saw Warwick twice dismissed for less than 200. In their first innings they reached an aggregate of 167, and a second venture found them with ten runs less. Gloucester's first reply reached 224, and only two wickets were conceded in hitting off the required 104 runs for 15 points.

ASHDOWN'S FEAT.

Kent Player Scores Two Separate Hundreds.

William Ashdown, the young Kent batsman, severely manhandled the Middlesex attack at Lords, taking from it centuries in two innings, and he thus joins the ever-increasing band of players with two separate hundreds in one match to their credit.

His performance played a big part in the defeat of Middlesex by the Hop County. Of Kent's first innings score of 346, Ashdown contributed 121, and when a declaration was made to the second visit with the score at 200 for 5 wickets, he had again passed the three figure mark by three runs. Middlesex could never settle down against the well-directed Kent attack, and their initial knock found them dismissed for 204. They fared very badly a second time, and could only put 142 on the score board.

A KEEN FIGHT.

Sussex Just Manage to Win On First Innings.

Sussex had an easy task in capturing five points from Worcester-shire. They were first dismissed for 149, and Worcester replied with 109. The match was greatly curtailed, and time only allowed for Sussex to make 32 runs for the loss of one wicket in the second innings.

TWICE OUT FOR 86.

Glamorgan Trundled By Derby Bowlers.

Twice dismissed for 86 runs was the unpleasant experience of Glamorgan against Derbyshire, who beat them by 184 runs. Slater was the chief instrument in the Welshmen's first innings failure, his five victims being secured at a cost of 27 runs. Derbyshire, without shining to any great extent against the Glamorgan attack, compiled sufficient runs to enable them to win comfortably. Their first knock realised 191, and the second 165.

LANCS SET-BACK.

Concede Five Points to Notts.

Hampered by weather conditions, the match between Lancashire and Notts was left in a drawn state, with Notts claiming five points.

Lancashire put up a score of 163, but Notts easily passed it, and with George Gunn in characteristic form, and hitting up 117 before dismissal, they succeeded in aggregating 340. Lancashire played out time by scoring 77 for one wicket.

THE OLD FIRM.

Sutcliffe and Hobbs Score At Will.

Sutcliffe and Hobbs held the attention of the spectators at the match between Surrey and the champions, when Yorkshire had to concede first innings points.

Sutcliffe was brilliant, and in remaining undefeated with 101 out of a total of 233, he obtained his twelfth century of the season, and now leads his rival, Duleepsinhji, by one.

Surrey secured an advantage of 67 runs, this being largely due to Hobbs, who also went through the innings with his wicket intact, to contribute 133 out of 300.

Yorkshire experienced no difficulty in keeping the game to a draw, their second venture closing with the score at 178 for 4 wickets.

ESSEX THWARTED.

New Zealanders Nearly Beaten.

After being led on the first innings, Essex made such a good recovery against the New Zealand tourists, that they were well on the road to winning, but time intervened.

New Zealand batted with great enterprise in their first visit to the wicket, and aggregated 412. Of this their captain, T. C. Lowry contributed a delightful 129.

This gave the visitors a useful lead, for Essex only scored 150 for the first knock, but they recovered and at a second attempt, ran up a score of 372.

The New Zealanders were in a bad way when stumps were drawn, having lost five wickets for 59 runs.—Reuter.

an American citizen and said he had permission from the Taiyuan's agent at Amoy to go on board.

Caldwell: Your Worship, all I have got to do is to prove that I am an American citizen, isn't it?

His Worship: Well, I cannot say. It is up to the police.

Caldwell repeated his story of having seen four American Consuls at various ports in China and being told that he could get through without a passport.

His Worship: If you have no passport, how are they (American Consuls) to know that you are an American citizen?

Caldwell: The American Consul here has cabled my father in America.

His Worship (to Inspector Elston): Is that so?

Inspector Elston: Yes, your Worship. A cable was sent two days ago, but we have yet received no answer.

His Worship said that if there was a reply it should reach Hongkong by Saturday, and accordingly adjourned the case until Saturday morning.

PROSECUTION.

A summons for carrying out structural alterations to his distillery at 81 and 82, Main Street, Stanley, without permission was brought against Mr. See To-on before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning.

Mr. J. S. Gibson, architect for the defendant, informed his Worship that the alterations were ordered by the Superintendent of Imports and Exports and the defendant, who was thus "intimidated" by that official, carried out the work without first submitting a plan, which was his only mistake.

His Worship, after hearing the facts, agreed that the defendant had been more or less forced by the Imports and Exports Department to carry out the work, but he should have first submitted a plan to the Building Authorities.

A fine of $20 was imposed.

nounce changed lives and to share experiences.

Though it is not claimed that every thought received and expressed is inspired by the Holy Spirit, there are innumerable proofs (when the work is reviewed over a period) of supernatural guidance, the Divine leading that might be expected when a body of men and women were met together courageously obedient to any indication of the will of God.

All are receptive to the Inner Voice, which they say is one voice unfolding through them, though not through them alone, not a five-year-plan, but a majestic eternal plan for the redemption of humanity.

resolutions, no collections. Absolutely harmony with all striving to achieve Love towards all (friends and enemies). Purity in every thought and act. Unselfishness in every direction. Honesty towards self and everyone. Dr. Buchman, who received and formulated these principles, spends much time in guiding and training new leaders, though he does not claim the leadership which is essentially the voice of the Holy Spirit, expressed through any of the Groups and checked by the others.

He called the house party in the conviction that spiritual revival must precede trade revival and that the best way to control world forces and prevent their clashing is to get men and women filled with the Spirit.

To-morrow the house party breaks up and the members disperse to the ends of the earth—to start the world revival.

GOLF as the STARS play it

THIS IS THE STANCE TAKEN BY JOHNNY FARRELL WHEN PLAYING A SHORT CHIP AND RUN SHOT.

How can I improve my short game?

The short chip shot to the pin can save many strokes for the player who has an off day with his irons. It is a shot that should be practised often.

Give the left hand a chance to guide the club by keeping the hands in line with the strokes. As only a short swing is necessary, the club should be raised no higher than the hips.

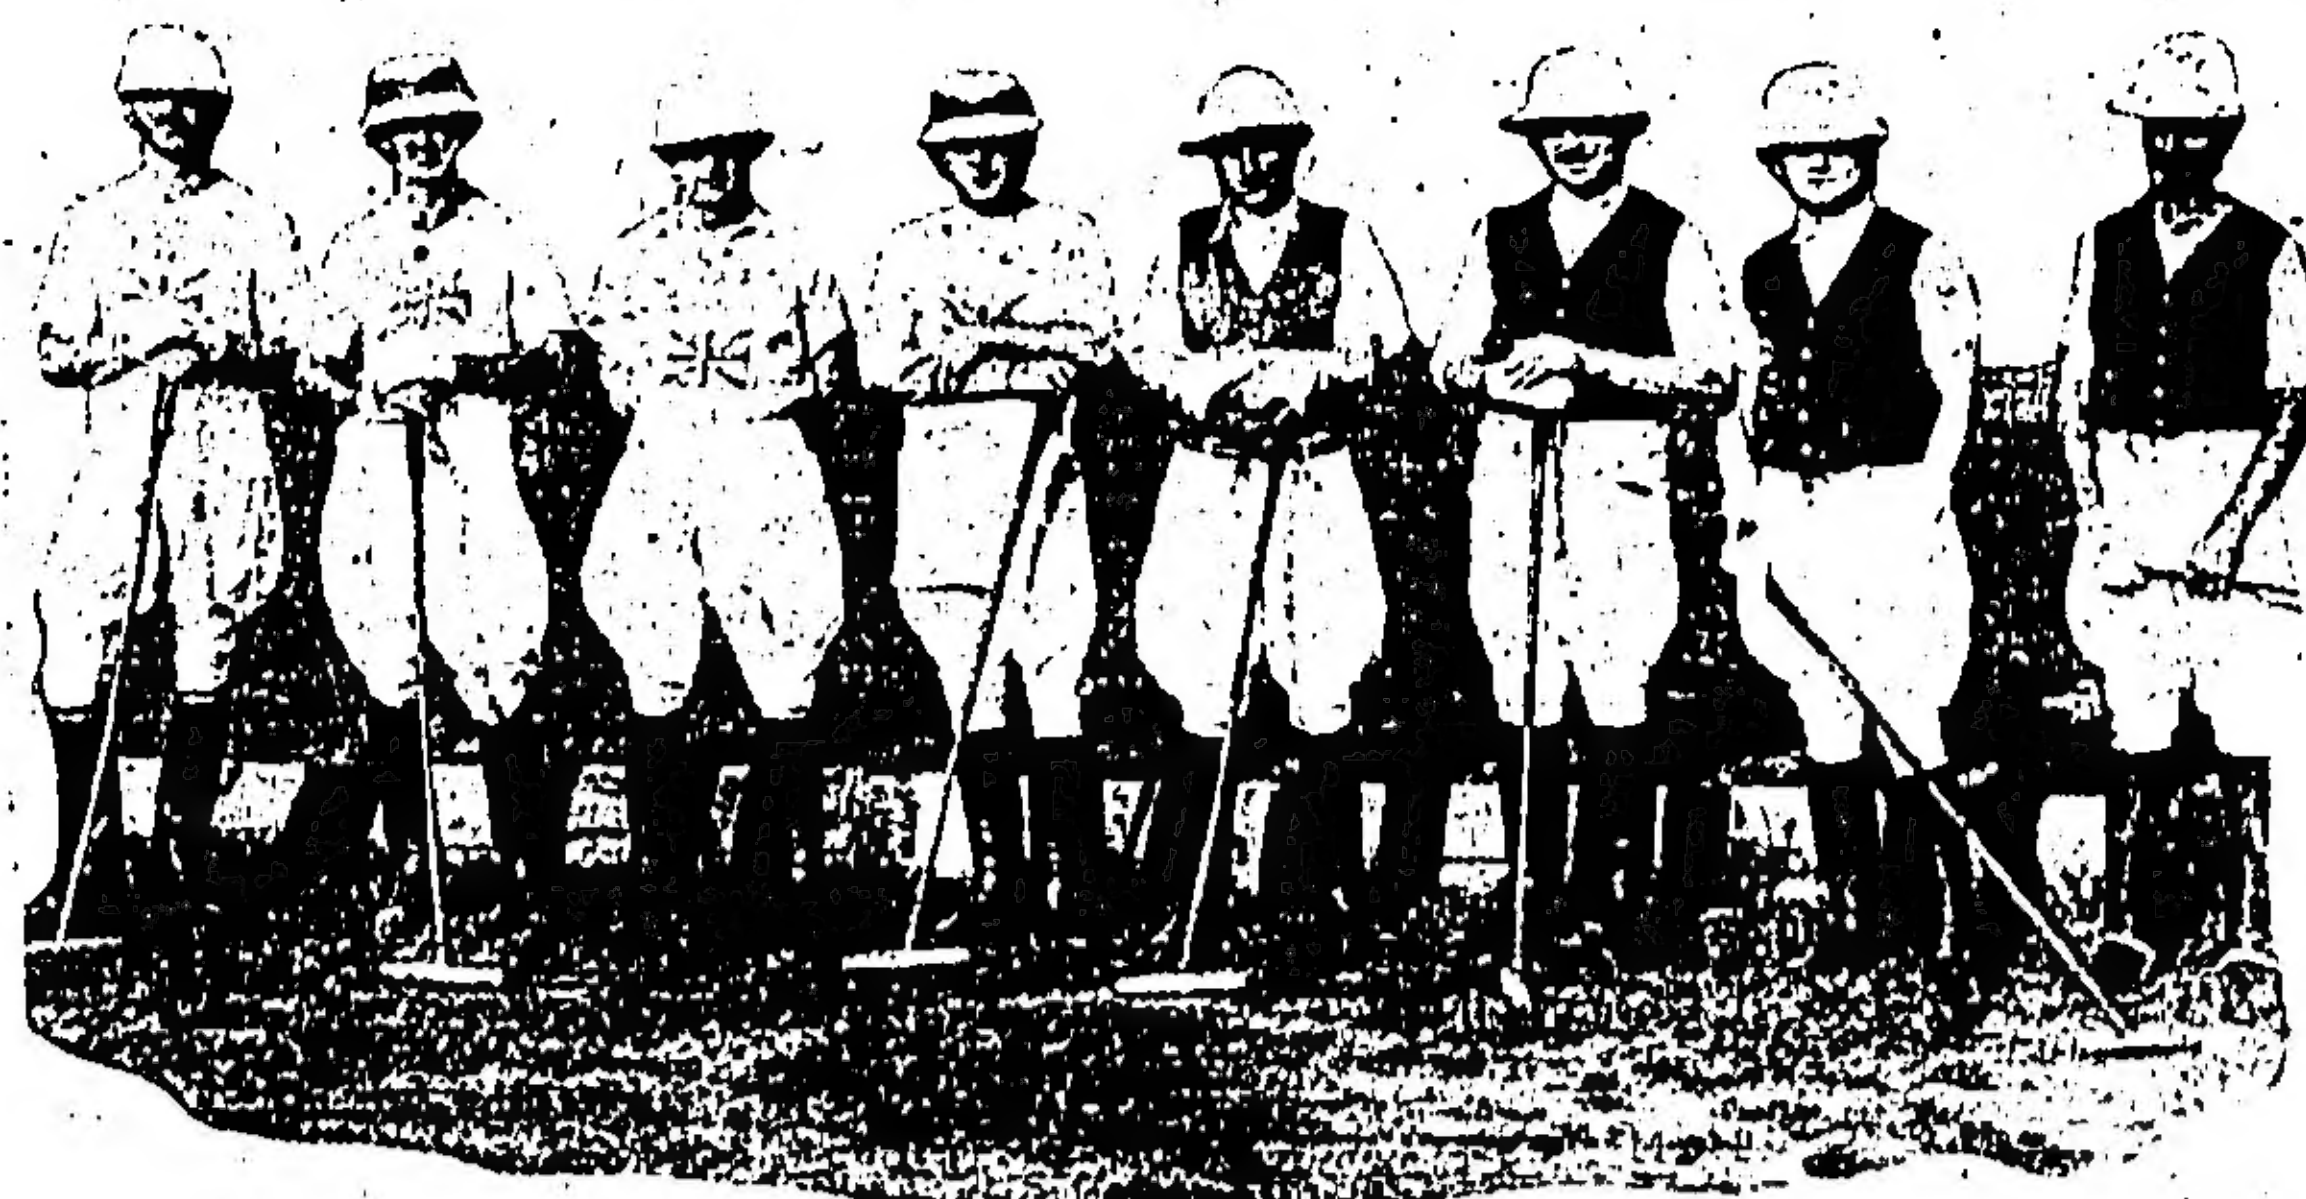

The stroke must be executed smoothly to avoid "jabbing" at the ball.

It will be well to study the condition of the ground. If it is hard and sunbaked the ball will run a considerable distance. In that case, aim at a spot in front of the green. If the course is wet, there will be very little roll, necessitating a shot aimed at the vicinity around the hole.

ART KRENZ.

The Colony's health report for the 24 hours ended midnight on Monday included two cases of typhoid and three of diphtheria, all Chinese. For the week-ended Saturday there were three cases of diphtheria (one death), five of typhoid (two deaths), two of paraperal fever (one death), one of cerebro-spinal fever and 45 deaths due to tuberculosis.

BRITISH AND AMERICAN POLOISTS.

Representatives of Great Britain and America met last week in the annual match for the Shanghai International Cup, presented by Judge Sir Peter Grain. After seven chukkas of thrilling play, Britain emerged the victors by 10 goals to 9. The game was witnessed by an immense crowd whose enthusiasm was remarkable. Left to right: Great Britain—Morrison, Surtees, Robinson and McMichael. United States—Burdick, Rodger, Franklin and All man.

Crisis, he said that above all, public opinion abroad was concerned regarding our budget position. Foreigners who did not know our financial strength had got rather nervous, and the Government was faced with a financial situation which was rather like an attack of appendicitis. It could not be trifled with, but there was no danger whatever if immediate treatment was given.

Assurance To World. The new Government proposed to take swift, effective and decisive action to assure the world that our budget would be balanced.

He categorically denied certain suggestions that there was a bankers' conspiracy against the Labour Government. He declared that the attitude of the bankers to the Government would be precisely the same as to the old.

The Premier mentioned the intention to reduce the unemployment benefit by ten per cent, which was more than justifiable in view of the fall of eleven and a half per cent in the cost of living.

He concluded with an appeal to both rich and poor, employed and unemployed, to face the difficulties with hearts determined to overcome them.

Tension Relieved. The solution of the political crisis by the formation of a National Government of co-operation, with the sole united purpose of restoring the equilibrium of the national finances and re-establishing confidence in British credit, has relieved the tension and interest is now shown in the repercussions on the political organization and the personalities of the change of administration.

The public is being addressed successfully by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, whose talk from Downing Street was broadcast by all the transmitters of the British Broadcasting Corporation, Mr. Stanley Baldwin who will broadcast tomorrow night, and Sir Herbert Samuel on Thursday night.

The leaders will explain the circumstances and the motives of their momentous decisions in the last few days.

Party Meetings. Meantime arrangements are in train for various party meetings to consider the new situation.

Mr. Baldwin has called a full meeting of the Conservative Party which includes the Peers, Members of Parliament and candidates, to be held on Friday morning next.

The purpose of the meeting it is officially stated is to enable him to make a statement of the reasons "which caused him to decide that it was his duty to take part in the formation of a National Government to carry out the urgent financial reforms required by the present national emergency."

The attitude of the Labour Party and the Trades Union Congress will be discussed to-day at a joint meeting of the National Executive of the Party and the General Council of the Parliamentary Labour Party has been called for Friday afternoon.

In a statement last night, Mr. W. M. Citrine, the Secretary of the Trades Union Congress said: "It is obvious that nobody can commit the Labour movement to participation in or support of a National Government without their consent. That consent has not been asked for nor given."

Mr. Thomas Kennedy, the Chief Labour Whip and the other Whips of the late Government have decided to refuse office in the National Government.

First Meeting To-day. It is understood the Ministers in the Labour Government will have over their Seals of Office at Buckingham Palace early this morning, and the new Ministers will go to receive them at 11.30.

The first meeting of the new Cabinet will probably take place at noon. According to the Prime Minister's statement, Parliament will meet on September 8th, when proposals will be submitted to the House of Commons for a very large reduction of expenditure and for the provision on a suitable basis of the further funds required to balance the budget.

Round Table Conference. An official statement issued from No. 10, Downing Street last night says that arrangements for the Indian Round Table Conference will not be affected by the change of Government. The Prime Minister will be the Chairman of the Conference and Lord Sankey will preside at the forthcoming meeting of the Federal Structure Committee. Lord Reading will continue to lend his assistance in its work.—Reuter and British Wireless.

CONSTABLE TAKEN FOR FOOTPAD.

MIDNIGHT COMEDY.

A midnight encounter between a youth and a policeman in plain clothes, in which each mistook the other for a thief, was described at Stevenage, when Ernest Tinsley (20), of Rawmarsh, Yorkshire, was charged with housebreaking.

P. C. Dunaby said that he was walking along the Great North Road soon after midnight, when he met Tinsley, and questioned him. Tinsley suddenly bolted. He followed and, finding him in a house which was temporarily unoccupied, arrested him.

Tinsley explained that he had just been discharged from the Tank Corps, and was walking to his home in Yorkshire. When the constable, who was in plain clothes, stopped him and asked if he had any money, he became frightened. He thought the constable was a footpad.

He ran away and broke into the house, took a roller from a towel rail in the bathroom to protect himself, threw a vase through the window, and shouted to attract attention. He had no other thought than to prevent himself from being robbed.

He was discharged.

WHILE BERLIN AWAITED THE WORST.

Dramatic scenes in the streets of Berlin accompanied the threatened collapse of Germany's financial structure. This picture shows throngs of anxious depositors jamming the sidewalks outside the Stadtische Sparkasse after this banking house, one of the most important in the German capital, had been declared insolvent.

SHOT BY REVENUE OFFICER.

CHINESE WHO WENT TO FRIENDS ASSISTANCE.

The recent shooting incident on the Praya where a Chinese Revenue Officer, in arresting a prisoner in possession of a large quantity of opium, fatally wounded one of the man's friends was the subject of a Coroner's inquiry before Mr. Schofield and a jury, at the Central Police Court yesterday afternoon.

Mr. T. R. Macdonald was for man of the jury while Mr. A. M. Calman and Mr. E. Greenwood were the other two members.

Police proceedings were conducted by Mr. T. Murphy (Assistant Director of Criminal Investigation) while Mr. R. R. Todd (Assistant Superintendent of Imports and Exports) was present on behalf of the Revenue Department.

Before calling the evidence, the Coroner informed the jury that the inquiry was into the circumstances of the death of one Li Ying, aged 50, who was shot by a Chinese Revenue Officer on August 14 whilst arresting a man in possession of opium.

It was pointed out that it was the duty of the jury to consider whether the shooting was intentional or not and if intentional was the use of firearms necessary. If unintentional was the shooting due to lack of proper care on the part of the officer or was it an accident which could not have been avoided.

Revolver Examined.

Inspector E. A. Vincent produced photographs of the vicinity, after which Sergeant J. E. Scott, Police Armourer, gave evidence of an examination of the Revenue Officer's revolver. The witness said that there were six cartridges in the chamber, of which four had been expended and two had misfired. There was a bullet stuck half way in the barrel of the revolver.

After describing each round of ammunition witness said that the two "misfires" had been due to defective charges. Dampness and deterioration of powder was not strong enough to have forced the last bullet through the barrel.

Witness mentioned that that was quite a common occurrence and happened with revolvers during firing practice in the Police Force. It was due to either perspiration from the body of the carrier or to oil from the weapon soaking into the powder of the charge.

Scene Visited by Court.

The Court then adjourned to visit the scene and, on returning, Revenue Officer Ward gave evidence of having examined the Chinese revenue officer in connection with the arrest of the man in possession of the opium and the case which followed as a result. Witness found a black bruise on the left arm and other bruises on different parts of the man's body. After the case had been before the Magistrate witness learned of the death of the deceased, and, together with Inspector W. R. McWalter, the Chinese Revenue officer and the prisoner, witness went to the scene of the shooting. Witness later handed the officer's revolver over to the Police.

A European revenue officer on duty at the Imports and Exports office stated that at 3.20 a.m. on August 14, Chinese Revenue Officer No. 68 returned to the office with the prisoner and a parcel containing opium. The officer's clothes were badly torn while both showed signs of having been involved in a struggle. The officer reported that when he was arresting the prisoner he had to fire three shots from his revolver in order to frighten away four other men who had gone to the man's rescue.

The revolver was examined and found to contain four empty cartridges and two misfires.

In reply to Mr. Todd, witness said that when the officer had told him he had fired three shots witness asked if anyone had been hit and was told that no one had been

MUNGANA MINES.

PROMINENT DEFENDANTS GET VERDICT.

Brisbane, Aug. 25. The jury in the Mungana Mines case, after spending the week-end locked up, have returned a verdict for the defendants on all counts, with costs—Reuter.

[The case referred to has been a big factor in Australian politics for some time. The issue has been pending since last February, a Brisbane message of February 9 stating:

Based upon the findings of the Queensland Royal Commission of Enquiry into the circumstances attending the purchase of the Mungana (Chillagoe) Mines by the Queensland Labour Government when Mr. Edward G. Theodore, the present Federal Treasurer, was Prime Minister, the Crown's statement of claims in the case have been delivered to the defendants' solicitors.

The Commission, which submitted its Report in July last, found that Mr. Theodore, another ex-Premier of Queensland, Mr. W. McCormack, and the Mines Manager, Mr. Goddard, were guilty of fraud and dishonesty in procuring the State purchase of the mines for £40,000. Mr. Theodore immediately resigned his position in the Federal Cabinet, though he declared that the charges were the result of the work of political enemies. It is less than a month since he resumed his position as Mr. Scullin's second-in-command.

It is understood that the Crown's claims total £30,000, four defendants, including Mr. Theodore, being jointly sued.]

ROBBED AND TIED
TO A TREE.SHEK-O COUNTRY CLUB
COOLIE'S ORDEAL.

While on the way towards Quarry Bay to buy milk there, a young coolie in the employ of the Shek-O Country Club was waylaid by highwaymen, early yesterday morning, and robbed of $1.85.

He told the Police that going over Chaiwan Gap he was on the point of proceeding down the bridge path when three men appeared from the opposite direction. They seized him and one of them made the rather pointless declaration, "I have been watching you." They then took a small sum of money and his metal wristwatch from him, and tied him to a tree with strings taken from the provision basket he was carrying.

"I managed to free myself some minutes later," the victim said. "By that time the three men had disappeared over Chaiwan Gap."

It will be recalled that a somewhat similar affair was reported as occurring on Sunday on the Sisking Road, when a fuki carrying provisions to a customer, alleged he was robbed by three footpads and tied to a tree. Some doubt was cast on his story at the time.

OBITUARY.

DEATH OF A VERY OLD
RESIDENT.

We regret to report the death of Mr. Francisco Sales de Souza, a very old resident of the Colony, who passed away at the Government Civil Hospital last night at the advanced age of 76. He had been taken seriously ill the same morning, when his removal to hospital was considered necessary.

The late Mr. de Souza was a Government pensioner, having formerly been in the clerical department of the Police, and retired over thirty years ago. His wife predeceased him by about twenty-six years, and of his three children, a son and two daughters (all of whom entered the Church) only one daughter, who is Superiora of a Franciscan convent in China, survives.

Deceased leaves two nephews, Messrs. Arthur de Souza, of the Treasury, and R. M. de Souza, purser on the S.S. Sul Tai, and five nieces, one of whom is Miss A. de Souza of Asiatic Building, as well as a number of grand-nephews and nieces.

The funeral will take place this afternoon, passing the Monument at 5.30.

HIGH HANDED POLICE
ACTS ALLEGED.THE WEST POINT CLUB
CASE.

The case was continued before Mr. Williams, at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon, of the thirteen Chinese who were arrested on a gambling warrant during a raid on the Chik Yue Club at Nos. 606-610, Queen's Road West.

For the defendants, Mr. G. K. Hall Brutton, submitted that the arrests were illegally made, accompanied by such high-handed acts as searching the prisoners and handcuffing them. The Club was a properly constituted social Club, the members occupying substantial positions in the Colony.

One of the defendants, giving evidence in the witness box, gave

A day book for petty expenses and monthly balances were amongst the accounts of the Club and these did not in any form contain commissions. His position as Manager and Treasurer was purely honorary and he paid his entrance fee and member's subscription like the others.

He identified two of the other men now charged as being "boys" employed by the Club. A third "boy," who was one of those originally taken into custody, had since been released by the Police.

On the night in question he was at the Club. The Club provided a dinner at seven o'clock every evening, but he arrived after this meal. He partook of the midnight supper, which, unlike the dinner, was furnished by those who had been lucky at cards. This subscription he pointed out, was a purely voluntary matter, and also went his name as Lee Wan-sung. He stated that he was Honorary Manager and Treasurer of the Club over a considerable period. When the Club removed to its present premises at Queen's Road West he continued in that position, and started a new set of books.

"Eminently cordial" said Mr. H. L. Stimson of his interview with Italian officials in Rome and this picture of a smiling group at the Villa Borghese bears him out. The American cabinet official (1), Mrs. Stimson (2), and Italian Foreign Minister Dino Grandi (3), are shown leaving a luncheon party.

He was in charge of subscriptions and membership fees. The rules were that a member paid $200 as entrance fee, after which he paid a monthly subscription of $30. These subscriptions, witness declared, were enough to cover the running expenses of the Club, so that it was not in any way and in point of fact, had not been dependent on any commissions secured at the gambling tables.

All the members, of which there were 25, occupied substantial positions in business; were either shipping men, doctors, dentists or were engaged in the importing and exporting business.

towards the cost of cigarettes and fruit.

Two tables were laid out for supper that night, there being 23 or 24 persons present. It occupied nearly half-an-hour, after which members dispersed to do what they wished. For his own part, he went out on the verandah, presently going into the sitting room where he read a newspaper. While there, towards 2.30 in the morning, he heard a voice shout "Don't move" and was then made aware of the presence of the Chinese detectives.

In examination by Mr. Brutton, witness said he saw one of those present who had joined a group sitting near an opium-divan being dragged away by a detective and afterwards being assaulted by that same detective. They were ordered to one part of the floor and there searched and handcuffed.

The case was again adjourned until Tuesday afternoon.

SPANISH UNREST.

GOVERNMENT SHOWING
STRONG HAND.

Madrid, Aug. 25.

Fears of a revolt in the Basque and Navarre regions of North Spain against the anti-clerical policy, have provoked the Government to overawe the population by a display of force.

Three more Catholic newspapers have been suspended, mass meetings have been banned, and the cruiser Libertad has reached Bilbao.

Catholic indignation has been increased by the announcement that the Government has demanded that the Vatican remove the Primate of Segura and Vicar-General of Victoria.—Reuter.

[A Madrid message of August 22 stated:

Thirty thousand troops have been despatched to northern Spain to cope with a threatened armed revolt among fanatic Catholics, who are rising against the Government's anti-clerical measures.]

OPIUM SEIZURES IN A FLAT.

FINES ON MAN AND WOMAN.

A man and a woman living at 27, Queen's Road West, appeared before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning charged with joint possession of 24 taels of prepared opium and 29 taels of raw opium.

Revenue Officer Powell, together with a party of Chinese revenue officers, visited the flat yesterday afternoon and found quantities of opium. The man, questioned, stated that the opium belonged to the woman, who admitted the accusation.

Both defendants, who were represented by Mr. F. X. d'Almada Jnr., gave evidence that the opium belonged to the woman, the man being merely a visitor from the country.

His Worship remarked that the only opium which could be said to have been in the first defendant's immediate possession was nine taels which were found in a small room. He was accordingly fined $270 or two months' hard labour in default. The woman was fined $2,800 or eight months on the charge of possession of 24 taels of prepared opium and a further $600, or three months for possession of 20 taels of raw opium.
